PACKING HOUSE WORKERS ON WAY TO CONFERENCE

Will Place Demands Before Packers and Labor Bureau.

Refusal of Demands Leave No Alternative But to Strike.

Chicago, March 19.—The two representatives of the union packing house employees, accompanied by executives of nine other unions signatories to the war time arbitration agreement in the packing industry today were on their way to Washington to meet with representatives of the packers before the Secretary Davis of the department of labor next Monday. Ballots of the employees at packing centers throughout the country received up to today showed a vote of 44,799 to 618 in favor of a strike if the union leaders fail to obtain revision of the packers recently instituted wage cut and return to the ten hour day before extra overtime pay.

"We will place our demand before the conference clearly and succinctly," said Dennis Lane, secretary treasurer of the Butcher Workers Union and one of the two delegates to the conference. The other is Redmond S. Brennan, counsel for the union. If they are not met the only alternative for us is to strike.

"We are going to ask the conference to rule that the packers abrogation of the Alschuler arbitration agreement was illegal. If this is done the recent wage cuts and changes in working conditions effected by the packers are also illegal. Before putting them into effect they must first show their necessity before Judge Alschuler."

Federal Judge Samuel Alschuler was the arbitrator chosen to handle the packing employees disputes under the war time agreement.

An employees' representation plan, similar to the one on which employees of Armour and company are now voting, has been perfected by Morris and company, it was announced today, but is being withheld pending the result of the Washington conference.

A statement issued today by a score of small packers after a conference yesterday declared that the union officials had fought to intimidate the consuming public by magnifying the probability and extent of a strike.

"It is doubtful if more than 30 per cent of the growers of the plants affected are union men," the statement said.

TRUPOES ON DUTY DURING VOTING

Plebiscite In Upper Silesia Results In Shooting and Arrest—Seven Germans Charged With Advocating Violence.

Oppeln, Upper Silesia, March 19.—Captain Lench, who was an adherent of Dr. Wolfgang Kapp during the short lived revolution in Berlin last March, and who was head of the press section of the foreign office during Dr. Kapp's regime, was arrested yesterday by Italian occupation troops. It was alleged he was at the head of a military organization aiming to uphold German claims in Silesia by force, if necessary, should the plebiscite on Sunday go in favor of the Poles. He was released after offering to procure proof that he was a reporter for a German newspaper.

Coinciding with the arrest of Captain Lench came reports from Gliwicz that two Poles had been shot and killed by plebiscite police while trying to interfere with the plebiscite in favor of Poland.

There are approximately 30,000 troops, including a complete French division, four battalions of British, two Italian battalions and a large number of German and Polish troops due in the plebiscite area. Germans complain that the border between Poland and Silesia has been left virtually unguarded, although strictest regulations are enforced on the German frontier. It is said in French sources that Italian officials do not expect disorders anywhere, with the possible exception of Katowice and Gliwicz, which are industrial centers, where there are many Polish workmen and where national sentiment is intense.

KLOOR WILL ENTER BIG BALLOON RACE

New York, March 19.—The Aero Club of America announced today that it had awarded the 1921 national balloon race to Birmingham, Alabama, and that the start would be made May 31. Trophies will be announced later. Officials of the club stated the foremost balloonists of the United States had signified their intention of competing, with the winners of this contest will be selected a team to go to Belgium to compete for the Gordon-Bennet international balloon cup now held by that country.

Among prospective entrants are Lieutenant Louis A. Kloor, pilot of the American naval balloon, which made its spectacular flight into Hudson Bay territory last winter; Bernard von Hoffman, H. E. Honeywell, J. S. McKibben and John Berry of St. Louis; Roy Donaldson, Springfield, Illinois; Warren Ransom, Brookville, Ohio, and Ralph Union, New York. In addition three United States army and navy teams will be entered.

MAJOR TITUS DIES.
Major T. S. N. Titus, 55, civil war veteran, died last night here. Last summer during a visit of the Ohio legislature here, Major Titus was presented with a cup by the then Senator Harding as the oldest legislator present.

EGGS ARE DOWN TO 28 CENTS

Warm Weather and Approach of Heavy Laying Season Brings Prices Down—Vegetables Are Lower.

Eggs were quoted at 28 and 30 cents this morning on market and butter at 55 and 60 a pound. Leaf lettuce is off five cents on the pound and selling at 20 cents. The first Mississippi strawberries were in the market and selling at 30 cents a pint or 55 a quart. The early berries that have been offered for several weeks were from Florida and came in freezers. The Mississippi product came in refrigerators by express.

The Alabama berries will follow the Mississippi, then Tennessee, Kentucky, and home grown. The expense of the berries coming from Florida in freezers kept the price between 65 and 80 cents a quart. The Mississippi berries not coming so far can be offered cheaper.

New peas are 20 cents a pound, and tomatoes the same. Asparagus is 20 cents a bunch, French endive 40 cents a pound, carrots and turnips 5 cents a bunch, button radishes 5 cents a bunch, dry onions seven pounds for 25 cents, mangos 5 cents each, sweet peas 10 cents a bunch, radishes three bunches for 25 cents, water cress 10 cents basket, grapes 30 cents a pound, leaf lettuce 20 a pound, head lettuce 10 and 20 cents each, celery 10 to 20 cents a bunch, cucumbers 10 and 15 cents each, rhubarb 15 cents a bunch, onions 10 cents a bunch, radishes three bunches for 10 cents, spinach 15 cents for one-fourth peck, cauliflower 20 to 50 cents a head. Bananas are good looking and 35 cents a dozen. The potato market remains firm at $2.65 per 150-pounds, wholesale.

WATCHMAN SHOTS BANDIT TO DEATH

Chicago, March 19.—A bandit was shot to death, a house was bombed and a woman was killed in a mysterious explosion within an hour early today. Two bandits attempted to break into the Adler Packing company offices and one was shot to death by Carey Mason, negro watchman. Within a few minutes a terrific explosion set fire to a house in another part of the city and when firemen entered they found the body of Mrs. Frances Schirmer 65 years old, stretched across a trunk. In the negro district a bomb injured two persons, shattered windows, and other-wise damages half a dozen residences.

DRY LEADER'S AUTO IS SEARCHED FOR LIQUOR

Cleveland, March 19.—C. C. Crabbe, author of the Crabbe act, which bans all liquor violation by city members of the finance committee of the Ohio legislature, was searched for intoxicating liquors by police while enjoying an auto ride here last night. Mr. Crabbe and Chairman Carpenter of the finance committee were being taken for a tour of the city by members of the Chamber of Commerce. As they were going through a park two policemen ordered the machine to stop and announced they intended to search it for liquor.

Scutter, an operator employed by the New York Times. Scutter was victor in a receiving radio convention. The former record, 47 words a minute with three errors, was held by Tony Chabert of San Francisco, a commercial operator.

YOUTH QUOTES SCRIPTURE THEN ADMITS MURDER

Indiana Boy Confesses After Sheriff's Wife Gives Him Bible.

Makes Peace With God, He Says and Then Tells of Crime.

Warsaw, Ind., March 19.—Memories of his early religion revived by a letter urging him to confess his sins and seek forgiveness, combined with the softening influence of motherly advice by Mrs. C. B. Moon, wife of the sheriff of Kosciusko county, has resulted in a confession from Virgil Decker, 18 years old, in which he declares that he alone was responsible for the death of Leroy Lovett, a 19-year-old youth of Elkhart, Indiana, with whom he had chummed. Decker signed the confession early today in the presence of Mrs. Moon, her husband, three detectives and two Warsaw citizens.

Early today Decker said he had struck his chum on the head with an iron bar in a cottage on the Tippecanoe river, near here, while Lovett was asleep and several hours later returned to the cottage with a horse and buggy, taking Lovett's unconscious form to a nearby railroad crossing where it was struck by a train.

"The devil drove me to it," Decker told Sheriff C. B. Moon, after signing his confession and would add no other explanation. He contradicted his previous statement that a man named Fred Decker, his mother, in excusing him had committed the crime unassisted.

He denied that his transfer of his own clothing to Lovett's body had been part of a plan to collect insurance totaling nearly $30,000, payable to Fred Decker, his mother, in case of the death by accident of Virgil Decker.

In his confession Decker said that about 10 a.m. on March 12 last he and Lovett arrived at the cottage and shortly after lay down to sleep. Later he awoke, his confession said, and "the devil drove me to it." He said he took the piece which I used to strike Leroy on the head.

Thinking him dead, Decker said he went to the home of his brother and returned about 6 o'clock. He said he saw Lovett later and he just now saw him in the piece which I used to strike Leroy on the head.

Several times, he said, he drove across the railroad crossing nearby, trying to make up his mind to leave Lovett on the crossing.

"Finally I saw a train coming from the east," he confessed, "and drove down on the railroad track, unhitched the horse, leaving the buggy with Leroy lying in the seat on the track, and I ran down the road south in the direction the horse went from the injuries which it was at first believed he suffered only in the railroad crossing accident."

"The reason I placed my suit of overalls and shoes on Leroy was that I thought when the train struck the body of Leroy would be cut so bad he could not be identified and some of my clothes would be found on him and they would think it was me and I would have a chance to get away."

During his incarceration, Mrs. Moon also has talked with him. Late yesterday Decker requested a Bible. Later Mrs. Moon heard him talking as he walked about his cell. She listened and heard him quoting the Scriptures.

"Did you find something to comfort you?" she said.

The boy said he had found something very comforting.

"Are you familiar with the Bible?" asked Mrs. Moon.

Decker replied he could recite many passages of scripture and he told her of earlier days when he attended church regularly.

"My favorite verse is John, chapter 3, verse 16," said said he, and quoted: "For God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten son that who so ever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life."

"Isn't that good," he shouted. "It makes me feel better already."

"But, Virgil, if you keep on telling lies, don't you know that you will only make your case worse?" suggested Mrs. Moon.

"Yes, I know it, but I have made my peace with God and I'm ready to tell all," he declared the boy.

He then gave an account of his trip from Elkhart, Indiana with Lovett, which started Friday night, March 11 and which, according to the confession, ended Saturday morning in a summer cottage on the Tippecanoe river with an attack on the Lovett boy.

IRISH FORCES KILL SIX IN AMBUSH

Belfast, March 19.—A great ambush by Irish Republican forces near Kinsale, County Cork, this morning in which six crown soldiers were killed and five wounded, reported. The attack was on a heavy column of the British and the battle still is in progress.

RAIN AGAIN TODAY.
Rain today marks the eighth, ninth, 11th or 12th consecutive Saturday for precipitation, depending upon who is keeping the record. All these figures have been turned in to the Advocate today. One man said it has rained every Saturday but one since January 1.

RAILROADS NOT ALL OPPOSED TO UNION PLAN

Union Officials Seek to Show Some Would Accept Plan.

Labor Committee Abolished After Abrogation Was Requested.

Chicago, March 19.—Railroad labor union officials today planned to bring their investigation of the railway executives discussion on national adjustment boards to a climax by examination before the railroad labor board of W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad and C. R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific, both of whom were chairmen of the labor committee of the Association of Railroad Executives. Atterbury was chosen to succeed Gray, when the latter's report of the adjustment boards, although receiving the approval of a majority of the labor committee, was voted down by the executives association.

In answer to questions by Frank P. Walsh, counsel for the unions yesterday, D. Dewitt Cuyler, president of the association, said he believed a proposal of the position against the adjustment boards should be made chairman of the committee.

Records of the association produced by the executives for investigation showed a vote of 40 to 41 in favor of the Atterbury minority report.

Several weeks ago the labor committee abolished after Atterbury requested the railroad labor board to abrogate the national shop agreements, which were drawn up under the federal railroad administration.

The union leaders, seeking to establish that all the railroad executives were opposed to the national adjustment boards, subjected Mr. Cuyler to a close examination by declaring that "after full discussion" many of the members of the labor committee changed their views.

Charges that the Pennsylvania and the New York Central railroads dominated the policies of other roads in opposition to the national agreements with labor unions were made today before the railroad labor board by Frank P. Walsh, union attorney, in cross-examining railroad officers summoned by the board at Mr. Walsh's request.

SERGEANT ADMITS KILLING OFFICER

Providence, R. I., March 19.—Roland R. Portier of Central Falls, formerly an army sergeant today formally admitted that he killed Major General Adelbert Cronkheit at Camp Lewis, Washington, on October 25, 1918. The federal commission before whom he was arraigned accepted a plea of guilty to a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

CHIEF CAPTURES FUGITIVE HERE

Man Who Escaped From Belmont County Officer Again In Jail After Brief Liberty.

John Anderson, 29, of St. Clairsville, who was being taken to the reformatory by Deputy Sheriff Lohrer of that city was captured this morning by Chief Sheridan. He escaped at St. Louisville yesterday morning when he slipped from the sheriff's eyes and slipped his handcuffs. Anderson was caught while riding on a load of gravel near the Brister farm north of the city this morning at 10:30 by the chief who was accompanied by Charles Seward.

Anderson was taken to the city prison where he is held for the Belmont county authorities.

Anderson was committed to the reformatory on a charge of burglary. His companion who attempted escape at the same time was captured by a Newark high school student, who was taken to the Goddard school at Mt. Vernon. Although Deputy Sheriff Lohrer shot at the boy it was learned today from the police that the report of his being hit was unfounded.

MATERIAL MEN AID BUILDING REVIVAL

A large representation of material men, contractors, suppliers, dealers, and others attended the meeting of the Builders Exchange last night at the Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was called for a discussion of tentative plans to stimulate building in the city. Concessions have been made by many of the dealers in lumber and other supplies and further concessions from those interested in and affiliated with building endeavor will be sought.

Another meeting will be called soon to take further action.

POLISH TREATY SIGNED; WARSAW IS NOTIFIED

Warsaw, March 19.—News that the treaty of peace between Poland and Soviet Russia has been signed in Riga was received here late last night. It was immediately transmitted to President Pilsudski and the cabinet ministers, who were attending a gala performance in the opera house held in celebration of the adoption by the diet of the new constitution of the republic.

Toledo: Akron was selected as the place for the 1922 state conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

POLICE PRECINCT FOR WOMEN OPENED IN NEW YORK; HAS DETENTION QUARTERS

Mrs. Mary E. Hamilton and Mrs. Isabel Goodwin, in foreground, and group of patrol women before the new precinct.

Several cities have found women police useful, but New York is the first to give over to them a complete precinct. Those in charge are in no wise amateurs. Mrs. Isabel Goodwin was the first woman detective on the New York force and Mrs. Mary E. Hamilton was the first patrol woman. One interesting phase of their work will be the detention service—two floors of their building will be used for the women held as witnesses for criminal action, truancy cases, etc.

EAST NEWARK PEOPLE WANT CANCELLED CONTRACT EXPLAINED

Resolution Adopted Asking Council to Tell Why Paving Job On East Main Street Was Awarded Second Time at Increased Cost of $26,000.

No action was taken at the meeting of the East Newark Industrial and Improvement meeting at the East Main street M. E. church last night on the two resolutions presented at the previous meetings to the executive committee for consideration and recommendation. The resolutions called for an investigation of the efficiency of city officials in the paving matter and the repair of the street leading to East Newark. No executive committee meeting was held during the week.

A group of 200 citizens gathered in the church for a discussion of the East Newark problems, the meeting being presided over by President D. C. Metz. Mr. Metz told the assemblage that he was anonymously accused of being unfit to head the East Newark organization, due to his relationship with the mayor by marriage and he retired from the chair to the chair of Vice President Stanley Conrad. Later a motion calling for a vote of confidence in Mr. Metz was called for and given unanimously so Mr. Metz resumed the chair and finished the meeting.

Charles L. Flory, representing the Federal Asphalt Paving company as attorney stated last night that the company under no circumstances would begin work on the first contract for the paving of East Main street. He stated however that he was authorized to offer that if council would affirm the action of the board of control in annulling the first contract and have the service director advertise for new bids, the company would bid to do the work at cost.

Mr. Flory blamed war conditions as the reason for the action by the board of control and gave financial, moral and local reasons why the company would not perform the work under the first contract. He quoted the opinion of the supreme court where it stated that the action of the board appeared to be justified. He admitted that the first contract was not annulled by ordinance.

Councilman Riggs then asked if the bond given on the asphalt company for the performance of the work was still valid and Mr. Flory admitted that it was. Mr. Riggs stated that he was averse to rescinding the contract and that in his opinion the council body was also.

It was brought out that the city had the alternative to award the contract again after awarding the contract to the asphalt company for the difference between the old and new price. Mr. Flory stated that Mr. Brower, president of the Federal company would be here Monday and that he would probably have a message for the council which meets that night.

Mayor Atherton was called on and stated that the board showed its intention of having the street paved and that he was willing now or at any time to do all he could to have it paved.

A. H. Heisey asked the mayor concerning the condition of Indiana street. The mayor replied that in the last year more money was spent on the improvement of Indiana street than any street in the city except National Drive. He denied that the street was now or at any time in an impassable condition.

Mr. Oilerest, director of service also spoke concerning Indiana street saying that the street was not impassable and that it was not paved last year because of the failure of the bonds to sell.

All of the city officials left the meeting and Frank Sprague presented a resolution to the association. The resolution which was directed to the city council asked officials to explain why the board of control annulled the first contract and relet it at an advance of $26,000. A direct reply from Mayor Atherton, Service Director Edward Wilson and L. S. Pemberton is demanded. The resolution also demanded action on the improvement of Indiana street and was signed by the executive committee.

The constitution and by-laws giving the name of the East Newark Industrial and Improvement association to the association were adopted with A. H. Heisey objecting to the Chamber of Commerce as a reference body for the executive committee.

SNEAK THIEF STEALS $400

Charles Slane's Safe Is Robbed Soon After Place Is Opened Saturday Morning—Suspect Is Held.

Charles F. Slane's soft drink parlor was robbed this morning at 5:30 as it was being opened up for the day by the porter, Alonzo Lewis. While the porter was in the back of the place a man succeeded in opening up the safe and securing between $400 and $500 in cash. The safe had been left so that only one turn a certain way would open it and the man evidently knew that and had been watching his opportunity.

Chief of Police Sheridan arrested Wayne Greene 21, this morning at 11 o'clock as he was at the bar of the Slane place asking that a check be cashed. He was taken to the city prison and is being held as a suspect in the robbery.

Lewis visited the city prison this afternoon and identified Greene as the man who was in the place earlier in the day.

JAPANESE INSIST ON MANDATE FOR ISLAND OF YAP

Foreign Minister Says His Government Will Stand Firm.

Declares Anti-Japanese Sentiment In U. S. Is Fostered by Westerner.

Tokio, March 18.—Japan will stand firmly on her mandate over the island of Yap in the South Pacific, Viscount Uchida, the foreign minister declared at a meeting of the budget committee of the diet today in reply to a question by Representative Etsujiro Uehara.

Representative Uehara said that anti-Japanese agitation in the United States was spreading to other states besides California which he declared was probably due to the fact that the California agitators were communicating with persons similarly disposed in other states thus fanning anti-Japanese feeling. He also charged John F. Stevens of Chicago, head of the American railway mission in Siberia, with carrying on an anti-Japanese movement as a result of the clashing of his views with those of the Japanese army in Siberia.

The foreign minister asserted, the trade agreement between Great Britain and Soviet Russia was only a temporary measure. The interests of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan in Russia he declared all were different and the negotiations of France and Italy did not seem to progress as well as those of Great Britain. Hitherto M. M. Uchida said, Japan had kept in touch with the Soviets, but it might be necessary to put out a policy conforming to that of other countries. He believed the Moscow and Chita Soviet governments should be dealt with separately.

Ten members of the house of representatives will visit America this summer it was announced.

MANITOBA EXCITED OVER GAS DISCOVERY

The Pas, Manitoba, March 19.—The reported discovery of a flow of gas in the foothills near the Pasqua river, Saskatchewan, 100 miles west of The Pas, resulted in a miniature stampede to that district. A dozen small syndicates have been formed and large blocks of land taken up.

U. S. Government War Pictures TAKEN BY SIGNAL CORPS.
AMERICA'S GREAT ADVENTURE
BROUGHT TO NEWARK IN MOTION PICTURES
SINCE the birth of the motion picture industry, feature pictures produced on a mammoth scale by master artists such as D. W. Griffith have amazed the world. "The Birth of a Nation," "Civilization," "Intolerance," "The Fall of Babylon" and other super spectacles of the screen have proclaimed the power of the motion picture camera to faithfully reproduce for purposes of entertainment and education the epoch-making events of ancient and modern history. But no one man, not even a Griffith could hope to cope with the stupendous problems involved in the production of pictures portraying the tremendous drama of a World War. It remained for the U. S. Government itself to marshal through its Army Signal Corps those vast resources of money and men adequate to overcome the terrific obstacles involved in collecting the photographic record of the A. E. F. on the battlefields of France and Belgium. The cost of this immense task, if reckoned in money alone, would reach figures high in the millions. But far more than that was the cost in human life. Scores of brave men of the Signal Corps laid down their lives as they toiled behind their cameras from airplane, observation balloon or battleground in order to preserve forever in pictures the true story of the Great War. From letters, newspapers, magazines and official reports, the American people have read this story. From the lips of their own soldiers they have heard this story. But for the first time in the history of the world, those who were compelled to stay at home are able to see through the camera's eye the actual battle scenes themselves—scenes to which no mere printed paragraphs nor spoken stories can do full justice. And it is these Official War Films, released for a limited time by the War Department, which have come to Newark for exhibition 3 days starting Monday. It is unlikely that they will ever be shown here again, at least for many years. This, then, is your one sure chance to see the World War as it really was fought. Your money and sacrifices helped to win the war. Here at your very door the opportunity is knocking for you to see with your own eyes just how this was done. In other words, you cannot for almost any consideration afford to miss seeing—

WHAT THE SCHOOLS DON'T DO.

If young people come out of a school with their minds so aroused that they read the newspapers freely and learn what is going on, and if their ambition is roused, they can usually be depended upon to take their part in the community's work. If the school can teach them to co-operate and can incite their ambition, the boys and girls will go ahead.

When a school has to get along with half educated and incompetent teachers, it usually fails to perform these functions. The children acquire easy going habits of working, they get the idea that they can slip along through life with tasks half done. They do not concern themselves with the problems that the community is trying to work out. If they read newspapers, it is mostly to follow the sporting news and the crimes and scandals. As a result of the unpopularity of this noble calling, only one-fifth of the public school teachers have now the equivalent of a high school course with two years in a normal school, which is considered the minimum preparation required for good school work. More than 60,000 teachers in the schools this year are reported as decidedly below the grade of those who held the same places last year. And 30,000 schools were closed because teachers could not be hired.

How are you going to develop a generation that will know anything and handle public affairs with any sense, when the schools are having such difficulties?

Advancing salaries of teachers does not always bring the desired results, because the teacher's profession has been made unpopular by long years of low pay and neglect. The community must get a new point of view towards its teachers, and see that their calling is made attractive in every possible way. One feels sure that the people of Newark will do their utmost to co-operate in this effort.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO WITH $10.

In a certain school the question was put to the young people, "What would you do with $10." Two-thirds of the boys said they would put it in sports, and two-thirds of the girls would spend it for clothes.

Parents and teachers should show the young people of Newark that money can be used in one of two ways. It can be employed for some slight present satisfaction. Or it can be used as the foundation on which can be built some great benefit later on.

If a boy blew out his money on a trip to some city and spent it on fun and feeds, all benefit therefrom would have disappeared the next day. But if he would put in his money to help buy a musical instrument and would go to work taking lessons on the same, he would eventually acquire a resource that would give him pleasure and satisfaction all his life.

A boy who has been taught to look to future results, will often buy a few chickens, and soon have a little pen filled with valuable poultry. This will enable him to start a bank account, that eventually will be the foundation of the successful business.

"PSYCHOLOGICAL" DEPRESSIONS.

President Wilson made a famous remark, when he observed that the business depression of 1914 was merely "psychological." So today the business depression is mostly psychological, and it becomes a question how our psychology can be modified.

The human mind acts by fits and starts. A lot of people proceed to buy all kinds of products very extravagantly, and the cost of everything rises beyond all reason. Then people have a fit of economy, and cut their purchases down to the limit. If they had bought a good deal less in 1919 they could have bought more in 1921.

When people handle their money matters by reason instead of by those illogical intuitions called "psychology," the business machine will run better. Reason says that in a period of flush times, prices are high, so that it is a good time for economy. In quiet times like the present, reason says prices are low. So now is a fine time to buy. The stores of Newark are offering abundant opportunity to stock up against possible higher prices.

THE FARMER MILLIONAIRE.

(Youth's Companion.)
It is often said that a farmer, particularly a farmer on the comparatively small farms of the Eastern States, can never become a rich man. It is manifestly true that the opportunities for accumulating wealth from the soil are not what the opportunities are in mercantile or manufacturing business in a great city. Trading, buying and selling shrewdly, dealing in money as the farmer deals in corn and wheat and potatoes, have always been and always will be the quickest and surest roads to riches. But now and then something happens to show us that, given the requisite qualities and the necessary determination, a farmer can make a great deal of money.

The other day a man died at the age of 89 years in the same Massachusetts farmhouse in which he was born and in which he had lived all his life. He never owned an automobile, never extensively "improved" the old farmhouse, seldom stayed up later than 9 o'clock at night. He ran his farm well, worked hard and traded in cattle. Until the end, old as he was, he bought and sold cows and drove them over the road from his Massachusetts farm to his pastures in New Hampshire. He left an estate of a million and a quarter dollars, a very large part of which he gave to his native town for public improvements. None of his money came through speculation, but all of it through hard work, simple living, honest and careful trading and wise investment in moderately paying but sound security.

Of course not many farmers can expect to make so much as a million dollars. Neither can most merchants or manufacturers or professional men. There is a special gift of money-making, just as there is a special musical gift or a special gift of learning foreign languages. Not everyone is ready to make the sacrifices or to exercise the self-control that made this man rich, but he offers to us all an interesting example of what the practice of thrift, aided by sound judgment, can do even in circumstances that are generally called narrow and unpromising.

BORROWED HUSBANDS

By MILDRED K. BARBOUR

LX.—With Nancy in Charge.

Edith's maid opened the door of the sick-room at Nancy's light tap.

"You may go down to breakfast now," Nancy whispered. "I'll stay with Miss Fleurette."

She walked over to the bed and looked down at the injured girl.

What a lovely creature she was, in an extravagant sort of way. Her coppery hair was disordered as if she had tossed restlessly during the night. There was a bright flush on each cheek, and violet shadows lay under the closed eyes.

Fleurette's mouth was not pretty in repose. It was coarsely full and irregular in outline—the one marred touch to her beauty—the touch that betrayed her beauty and smiling over even white teeth as Nancy had seen it that day in the shop, its telltale lines had not been noticeable.

As she stood looking down at the girl clad in Edith's nightgown, she was thinking, curiously enough, of the girl, but of Edith's apparel. She remembered the sheer, lace-filled garments that had been Edith's at school; the ribbons and rosettes dear to the heart of the boarding school flapper.

The price of the nightgown Fleurette wore, would have purchased half a dozen of the fluffy garments of those bygone days. And somehow it represented the woman Edith had become.

Edith was a girl, its uncompromising lines, its modestly cut neck, its lack of all adornment save a primly embroidered monogram, expressed the new Edith who was a stranger.

"And it's not a pose," thought Nancy with a sigh. "She doesn't even abandon it when she sleeps."

The girl on the bed turned restlessly as if she sensed a strange presence, and Nancy moved to a chair by the window. But her eyes never left her patient.

Suppose suddenly the girl should slip from that grey mist if semi-consciousness into the blackness of the unknown? Suppose she passed on into eternal oblivion with two questions unanswered?

If she did, Edith would never know the truth about that whisper, "Fleurette, I'm so glad it's you!" She would always suspect.

The mystery of Gerry's cheque would also be left unsolved, and Nancy would be without the trust and confidence which was her greatest ally and defense.

A deep drawn sigh from the girl brought Nancy to her feet anxiously. As she bent over Fleurette, it seemed to her ready imagination that a subtle change had taken place in her appearance.

Was the bright flush receding to a greyish pallor?

She rang hastily for Edith's maid.

It seemed an eternity before the girl came, her eyes questioning.

"Miss Fleurette seems worse. I am a little frightened. Did the doctor leave any instructions for an emergency?"

"I was to give her three drops of this in a wineglass of water."

The girl handed Nancy a small vial. With hands not quite steady, Nancy measured out the dose, stirred it, and held it to Fleurette's lips.

But the girl was beyond swallowing, and little of the medicine reached her throat, most of it trickled out of the sides of her mouth, and was gently wiped away by Nancy.

The latter was now seriously alarmed by Fleurette's condition. She was as white as a sheet, and her eyes were thoroughly incensed at Dr. Langwell for leaving the girl professionally untended.

It seemed criminal negligence.

A sudden blinding thought came to her while she sat watching the unconscious girl.

Could it be possible that the doctor would rather Fleurette die than recover?

YOUR APARTMENT AND YOUR GARDEN

To the Editor of the Advocate:
Well, March 21 is spring, as they say, and in spring a young man's fancy is supposed to turn to thoughts of love, but I guess they're a lot of people that is thinking about their garden and wondering what to raise and etc. and they're plenty of books that tell you what to grow if you got a big farm or a couple of acres, but they ain't no books where a person can learn about gardening if you only got a little piece of property, so maybe some of my admirers would like me to write a few ideas about a garden for people that lives in a apartment or a hotel.

Well the last thing for the apt or hotel gardener to do is get some dirt two in 3 onions, 2 shoe string potatoes, 2 noodles and say some broom straw. If the garden is planted in the bath tub, however, a person has got to be careful to pick out vegetables like pumpkins, squash, melons, baked potatoes, gourds and etc. that won't run out if the kiddies pull the stopper.

But it's in the apt. flower garden that a person should ought to think twice before they sow. If you got 5 or 6 acres you don't half to pick and choose, but a box garden can't handle more than 1 or 2 kinds at lease. Well, pretty near every flower has got a meaning and the best way to do is try and find a kind that when a outsider seen it, they would think of you. Like and one way is to tell all your friends to not use the door mat when they come in but wait till you can scrape them off, but in order to be sure of the right kind of dirt, why its best to wait till some day when it been raining and then go somewhere where they's some rich soil and lay down and roll over and then come home and get dry and brush yourself off in whatever size box you want to have your garden.

A cigar box makes a pretty fair size garden for a family of 2, though a humidifier is still better yet as it keeps in the moisture. Big families needs more space and they's no better natural site for a garden than a bath tub a specially if you got a shower attachment so as you can make the plants think it's raining.

When a person is going to plant their garden in a cigar box, what you plant depends on whether you want flowers or vegetables and what kind of cigars they was in the box. When planting vegetables in a limited space like this the main idea is to plant a whole lot of different kinds so as they will be a few that both the husband and wife likes. For inst. they wouldn't be no sense in planting a whole bed of catnip when the husband didn't like it even if it was the wife's favorite greens.

Plant Onions in Paris
Some people don't like onions, but if you are going to plant any be sure and plant two, as it's generally always only one person eating them that makes it disagreeable.

Another thing in a small box garden, the small vegetables that don't take up much room is the ones to plant. A pretty good combination for a family of

LISTEN, WORLD!

(By Elsie Robinson.)
A Maverick is a peculiar outfit. Technically it's a bunch of horn an' hide that doesn't carry the brand of any ranch or fraternity with any special herd. Practically it goes deeper than branded or unbranded hides.

Your real maverick is a maverick from his soul out. Give him the snuggest corral and the fastest hay stack and he'll still seek the open range. Lead him to green pastures, sweet waters and a handy salt trough, and he'll turn of his own accord to the desert mesas and the perils of coyote and alkali sage.

You can rope him and brand him and slit his ear, you can fence him and feed him and breed him to registered stocks, but sooner or later he'll be off and away, back to the wilderness trail —FOR YOU CANNOT BRAND HIS SOUL.

The MAVERICK

Haven't you met 'em, World—the folks of the Maverick breed? Born and bred in the choicest corral, branded with the Golden Circle and the Diamond Horseshoe, fed with the first alfalfa crop—yet there they are, gaunt and wild, roaming the mesas of life alone.

By the roll of their eyes, by the tilt of their horns if you come too near, by their long, free stride through danger and need, shall ye know them. You may tie them and mark them and muzzle their speech, you may fence them and make them and polish their hides, but sooner or later they'll be up and away, back to the wilderness trails—FOR YOU CANNOT BRAND THEIR SOULS.

—By a Maverick.

for inst. the violet is suppose to be for modesty, and they tell me that you go in most of the moving picture stars' houses and you will find cigar boxes, cuspidors and etc. full of violets.

Then they's also people that grows the kind of lovers that means something amongst themselves, like for inst. they's a man that lives on Riverside Drive in N. Y. city and his wife has got every ash tray in the apt. planted with irises because his eyes was poked out in the war.

Then they's another couple where the wife use to go around in her bear ft. all the while and her husband got sick of it and kept bawling her out but she always told him she couldn't remember to put on her slippers. So he happened to be reading in Hamlet where Ophelia says that pansies is for remembrance.

In Spring a young man's fancy is supposed to turn to thoughts of love.

so he planted a whole lot of pansies, but his wife kept right on walking around in her bear ft. and then he found out that Ophelia was crazy, so he tore up the pansies and planted lady slippers.

Getting the Most Out of Flowers
And then they's a couple that be longs to a bridge club and the husband is kind of absent minded and several times his wife led him a suit that she known he didn't hove no more of them, but he would slough off and loose the trick till finally she poked him of the habit by planting a trumpet vine.

And I know a lady that don't grow nothing but wild flowers to remind her husband that he only got home 2 nights last wk. Then they's also a comical lady that had a big fight with her husband and she raised some anemones and give him one for Xmas and says: "Here's anemone from an enemy," and he couldn't help but bust out laughing.

The prettiest thought I have ran across in this line was thought up by some kiddies that every time they came home from school their mother had got married again. So they planted a lot of new poppies.

But you got to be careful to not raise some kind of flowers that will get people sore. They was a family in N. Y. for inst. that one night the father went in his hear ft. and caught his daughter holding hands with a pool shark. So the old man run to the humidior and tore up all the rose bushes.

"Here's what's the matter with you, po?" says the daughter. "Those is red roses and the stand for love."

"I don't," he says. "Not with no pool shark."

So after that she done her spooning when her old man was down to the Loyal Order of Moose and she planted a garden of daisies which won't tell.

LECTURE NO. 61.

Consider for a moment what happens when the car is started into motion from a stand still. At first the speed is zero, then it is infinitely small, and gradually increases. Now there is a minimum speed at which the gas engine will run without stalling. So, in addition to giving the engine a leverage for hill climbing and for starting, an arrangement must also be made which will permit the engine to revolve many times faster than the rear wheels. This is not only true when starting the car, but also in traffic, as there are times when the car must move at so slow a speed, that the rear wheels will make but three or four revolutions in a minute, a speed too slow for the engine.

Fortunately, a gear in addition to giving a leverage for hill climbing, will also give a change of speed. You will remember that in the last article it was shown how the gear gave a lever sets in the transmission, one for the level running, one for the steep hills and generally still another for medium hills, or, in other words, a first speed, of high leverage, and great engine speed; a second of a leverage and lesser engine speed, and a third for the level running. These sets of gears must also be arranged so that the operator can choose the one which he desires to use.

So far we have seen that the purpose of the transmission was to give a leverage to the engine for hill climbing and for starting, and also to give a means for allowing the engine to revolve faster than the rear wheels when the car speed is so slow that the engine which has a minimum speed would stall if it were not given this increased speed.

We saw how the transmission gears gave this leverage and increased speed, and learned that we had to have a number of speeds and leverages to take arrangement must be made to slide one gear of mesh when the other is slid into mesh.

To permit the gear to slide and yet drive the shaft, this shaft A is made either square or splined, that is, has a number of square offsets as shown in Fig. 3, the hole in the gear having keyways to fit on these splines.

To the sliding gears a double-flanged or collared sleeve as shown in Fig. 4 is attached, and into each of these sleeves a Fork as shown in Fig. 5 fits. If now a hand controller lever be arranged so as to move the rod H of the Fork, we will have a way to slide the gears back and forth on their splined or square shaft.

BUICK

More Buicks are in use today than any other automobile with one exception. There is just one reason—Buick fulfills its promises. But do not decide on this evidence alone. Let us demonstrate with a beautiful new 1921 model. Experience for yourself the physical satisfaction in the comfort, roominess, beauty and refinements of these new models; the mental satisfaction in the absolute Buick dependability.

A nation-wide Authorized Buick Service is constantly alert to serve Buick owners.

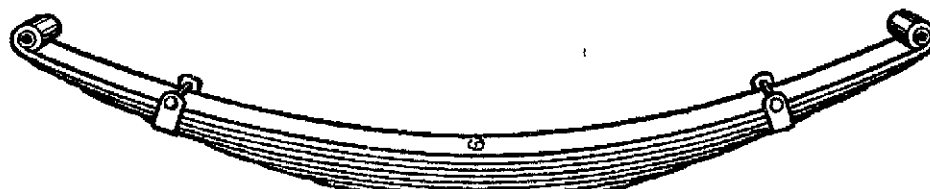

Since January first, regular equipment on all models includes cord tires.

Your Next Replacement Spring should be a TEMME QUALITY SPRING

Because

1. This time tested TEMME SPRING is hand-built thruout by master workmen.
2. Built from only the finest grade of selected steel, a bonus or premium paid by the manufacturer to the mill for the privilege of choosing first quality material.
3. This selected steel is scientifically heat treated and tempered in oils.
4. Each leaf is fashioned by hand to the accurate dimensions as specified in the automobile factory's specifications.
5. And finally these plates or leaves are painstakingly hand-fitted by long experienced fitters and liberally graphited before being assembled.

It is a sense of justifiable pride that we now announce ourselves as distributors for this popular dependable replacement spring and to announce to the passenger and truck operators of this vicinity that for every car and truck we are prepared to furnish a TEMME QUALITY SPRING—QUICKLY.

age of 10 to 1. It can easily be seen from the drawing accompanying that article that the gears also have a speed ratio of variation of 10 to the gear having the greatest load or connected to the rear wheels revolving once, while that connected to the engine revolves ten times.

While this speed ratio is good in traffic and for starting, it will not do for the average car speeds and the car is traveling at this average speed for about 90 per cent of the time. It will not do for 90 per cent of the time. So one set of gears as shown will not be enough, and there must be additional

KEEP THE KEY

Some motorists think they are not so apt to misplace the key to the starting switches of their cars if they leave the key right in the switch itself.

This often proves to be a dangerous habit, however, says Mr. Slotterbeck of the Willard Storage Battery Service

Station. We frequently have car owners towed into our service station because their batteries have been drained absolutely dry as a result of someone having turned the switch to "on."

It is especially dangerous to leave the key in a switch when the car is kept in a public garage where all sorts of people are coming and going. Sometimes it is necessary to do so in order that the garage man can move the cars about. But in such a case, it is wise to ask the manager to caution his men about always having the key turned to the off position after use. 3-19-1f

AIRPLANE LAYS TELEGRAPH CABLE

Makes Record Time Putting 40-Mile Line Into Operation In Sweden, Air Reports Show.

Washington, March 19.—A new job for airplanes—laying of land telegraph cables—has been tried out successfully in Sweden according to army air service reports. A six mile stretch was laid and put into service in eight minutes by a plane that came from its base 30 miles away. Of the eight minutes six were spent in flight and the other two in making connections.

Great possibilities, both military and commercial are seen by air service officers in the new enterprise. Equipment of planes for cable laying is said to be simple and inexpensive. For battle use, it is declared, the system may well prove "an effective means in the hands of army chiefs for influencing the outcome of the struggle.

In the course of operations in the open field," says the report, "a connection can be brought about immediately, as for instance, between different marching columns, even though they are separated by inaccessible ground.

Another valuable use could be in establishing communications with troops on forced marches either during an advance or a retreat. In trench warfare, lines of communication destroyed by enemy fire can be restored even in the middle of violent action.

There is no need for the plane to alight. The cable is unreeled from the machine in flight with a flag marker at the end to guide signalmen on the ground to it. When over the point at the other end of the stretch of ground to be covered, the cable is cut from the reel and the free end weighted, marked and dropped. The men below merely have to pick it up and connect it to begin talking with the forces at the other end.

For commercial purposes, the report suggests that cable laying by air may well prove valuable in forestry and forest fire protection, scientific exploration or other endeavors where communication is necessary "yet too difficult of installation by other means."

WITH THE OHIO CLUB WOMEN

MRS. GEO. ELLIOTT M'CORMICK

More Than 100,000 Now.

The outstanding feature of the first of the eight district conferences of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs at Kent March 11 and 12 was the official announcement that the Ohio federation now has a membership of more than 100,000. This announcement was made by Mrs. William H. Sharp, Columbus, president of the state federation. In an address that captivated her hearers she told of the splendid work accomplished in all of the various departments of the state federation as well as by the local federations and individual clubs all over Ohio. Voicing her conception of a club woman's duty as a citizen, she asserted that "politics, like charity, begins at home," and added: "The place to begin community service is at the ballot box. See that your party secures good candidates. If

KENTUCKY GIRL WRITES LETTER

How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sunnyside, Ky.—"I suffered for more than two years with my back and nervousness, and was not able to help my mother do the housework. I took treatment from two doctors and they did not do me any good. Mother saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the paper and I took about ten bottles. It has done me a great deal of good. I weigh 138 pounds and am in good health. I will gladly recommend Vegetable Compound to anyone who suffers with the troubles which I had, and you are welcome to publish my testimonial."—YELMER HENDRICK, Route 1, Sunnyside, Ky.

To many American girls life is often a heavy drag in consequence of illness, and every mother should heed the first manifestations, such as cramps, backaches, headaches and nervousness as Mrs. Hendrick did for her daughter, and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For over forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been relieving women of just such troubles.

Write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., about your health.

ARE YOU READING BORROWED HUSBANDS? IF NOT, WHY NOT?

Are you reading "Borrowed Husbands," Mildred Barbour's delightful story that is published from day to day in the Advocate?

Perhaps the reader is one of the few who didn't start with the opening chapter. If so, begin today. Read the following synopsis which brings the story up to date, then turn to page 4 of this edition and read today's installment. Once you start "Borrowed Husbands" you'll watch for the daily installment. When Nancy Burrard's husband, Gerry, goes away on a geological expedition to Peru, Nancy offers to help the wives of her acquaintance amuse and entertain their husbands. Her friends are delighted. "Nancy is so safe," they say. Complications begin at once, however, when Curtis Stanley introduces Nancy to Major Desmond of England as a "widow." Gerry is detained in Chicago for a few days, and Nancy goes to see him off. Gerry learns of the Major and leaves for Peru without a goodbye. The Major follows Nancy to Chicago where she is staying with a former step-friend, now married to a famous surgeon, Dr. Frederick Langwell. Edith Langwell is unhappy and Nancy discovers that the Doctor's "affairs de coeur" are the cause. Dr. Langwell immediately precipitates a flirtation with Nancy and Edith asks her to be nice to him. The Langwells entertain a house party to which the Major is invited. The Doctor continues to court Nancy, and attempts to kiss her. While out motoring, the party witnesses an automobile accident, in which a girl is injured. Nancy recognizes her friend, Fleurette, a modiste, in whom the doctor is interested. Fleurette is taken to the Langwell home. Nancy and the Doctor find her bag with a package of cancelled checks, one being for "$300.00" signed "Gerald Burrard." Dr. Langwell feels he has something "on" Nancy. Perhaps her Gerry is not above suspicion. Nancy is enraged at the unfairness of Gerry's attitude toward Major Desmond, while he himself—and she wonders "Who is the woman?"

Milady's Boudoir

Beautiful Eyelashes.

The lashes are a protection for the eyes and if they are thin and scraggly the eyes will become inflamed. You cannot have a luxurious fringe of eyelashes if you do not keep the eyes and lids in a healthy condition. If the eyes are weak and strained, the eyelashes are generally irregular, with bald spots here and there.

So the first thing to do is to acquire a desirable fringe over the eyes to keep the eyes free from as much strain as possible. Just before you retire at night, and again in the morning, bathe the eyes in boric acid solution, using an eye cup for this treatment.

The growth of the lashes is greatly improved by clipping them at regular intervals for a few months. As the task requires a firm hand it is best done by another, but, if necessary, you can do it yourself. Only the tips should be clipped and the work should be done with a pair of sharp, curved scissors.

For inflamed lids and short, scant lashes, yellow vaseline is one of the best applications. Melt a little of the vaseline, dip the point of an orange wood stick, about which a tiny bit of cotton is wrapped, into this and rub gently along the roots. Apply the vaseline at night and allow it to relieve any soreness gradually. Be careful that not the slightest particle of vaseline enters the eye, as the oil will irritate it.

A pernicious habit is that of rubbing the eyes. Almost invariably when you rub them, you remove an eyelash. Bathe the eyes, instead of rubbing them when they feel irritated.

For one man who is ambitious to leave footprints in the sands of time these are the best. Just as eager to cover up their tracks.
